Elba man arrested early Tuesday morning on multiple drug charges, including trafficking

Local law enforcement arrested an Elba man early Tuesday morning, April 2, on multiple drug charges, including a trafficking charge.

According to Coffee County Chief Deputy R.W. Whitworth, investigators from the Coffee County Sheriff's Office, 12th Judicial Drug Task Force, ALEA, and the Elba Police Department worked together to serve a search warrant at 1717 West Street in Elba at approximately 5 a.m. Tuesday morning. Upon making entry into the residence, Whitworth said Keith Tyson, age 39, of Elba was taken into custody and arrested on several charges, including trafficking in spice [synthetic marijuana], possession of a controlled substance [ICE, methamphetamine], and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Also, there was an undetermined amount of cash seized from the residence.

Whitworth said Tyson was transported to the Coffee County Jail without incident. He was awaiting his bond hearing as of press time this week.

ELBA HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE...The Albright family of Elba lost their home last Wednesday, March 27, to a fire. The 'fully engulfed' fire was reported at 3:58 p.m. last Wednesday at 53 County Road 342. The Elba Fire Department responded immediately and received help from the New Brockton and Bullock fire departments in fighting this blaze. The firefighters were on scene for several hours working to extinguish the fire. Elba firefighters returned to the scene again at 1:48 a.m. Thursday, March 28, when it was reported that the fire had started again. The home was completely destroyed by the fire, but there were no injuries reported as a result of this home fire.

News Brief:

Callers in New Scam Claim to be from ALEA, Demand Credit Card Information

The Alabama Law Enforcement Agency (ALEA) has become aware of a scam involving callers claiming to be ALEA officers with warrants for an individual's arrest unless the individual provides credit card information.

ALEA does not conduct business in such a manner, email copies of warrants or solicit credit card numbers or other personal details by phone in lieu of arrest. Members of the public should report similar calls to their local law enforcement agencies.

Coffee County Coroner Robert L. Preachers this week announced the appointment of Laura F. Rowell of Elba to be his Chief Deputy Coroner for Coffee County.

Rowell is a 2009 graduate of Jacksonville State University and has a Bachelor's degree in chemistry as well as a Bachelor's degree in criminal justice with a focus in forensic science. Laura F. Rowell

While obtaining her Bachelor's degrees Rowell received "real life" experiences as an intern for the city of Anniston Police Department Crime Scene Unit and the Jacksonville Lab of the Alabama Department of Forensic Science.

"Laura will be a valuable asset to the Coffee County Coroner's office staff as well as to the citizens of Coffee County," Preachers said.

Local family injured in automobile accident in Florida

A Coffee County family received multiple injuries from a multi-vehicle accident Saturday night, March 30, in Walton County, Florida near Freeport.

According to information released by the Florida Highway Patrol, two teenagers in two Camaros were racing one another when they ran into the Nelson family of Elba [Basin Community], in their pickup truck. This accident occurred just after 6:30 p.m. Saturday evening on the Clyde B. Wells Bridge on U.S. Highway 331 in Walton County.

Reports from the Walton County Sheriff's Office indicated the drivers of the Camaros Alma Michua-Castaneda, age 19, and Keane Neal, age 17, both of Freeport, were traveling north on U.S. 331 headed to prom.

The Nelson family was traveling in this 2002 Dodge Ram truck at the time of the accident. The truck reported rolled over two times before landing on its tires. All three family members received injuries in this accident.

Florida Patrol officials said the two were racing each other when they came up on slower traffic and struck the 2002 Dodge Ram pickup carrying Jacob R. Nelson, age 51, Teresa Nelson, age 52, and Alice Nelson, age 15, of Elba. The truck rolled twice before landing on its tires. All three vehicles received heavy damage in the collision.

Most seriously injured, according to reports, was Teresa Nelson. According to a Facebook update from her daughter on Monday afternoon of this week, Mrs. Nelson has improved some but remained in ICU at Fort Walton Beach Medical Center with facial fractures.

Alice reportedly suffered a broken collarbone, along with several other cuts and bruises, as well as a minor concussion. Mr. Nelson suffered fractured ribs and required several stitches for cuts on his face.

"Thank you all for the prayers," Alice wrote on her Facebook page.

Michua-Castaneda and Neal both were charged with reckless driving with property damage in causing the accident.

New Brockton Town Council moves swiftly through April meeting agenda

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The New Brockton Town Council meeting held Monday evening, April 1, passed by quickly as the council moved swiftly through its agenda for the monthly meeting.

Mayor Kathy Holley noted the council had been looking into the cost for putting a roof on the storage building located behind the town hall office. She said this would cost approximately $750, and council members approved a motion to proceed with this project.

The mayor also noted that the cost for repairing lights at the town's ballfield that had recently been struck by lightning came in at $3,758.16. She said the town's insurance would reimburse this cost for the damages, minus the town's $1,000. Holley said the town would receive a check in the amount of $2,758.16 from the insurance company regarding this matter.

A quick look at the town's financials for the month showed New Brockton had a balance of $205,433.42 in its general fund at the end of March. Revenues for the month totaled $55,889.71.

Town clerk Debbie Andrews said the estimated cost for regular bills for the month of April was $17,356.42. She said these are estimated figures because not all of the monthly bills had been received as of Monday evening's meeting.

County E911 officials continue to address VoiceOver IP issues

by Linda Hodge, Editor

During the Coffee County Commission meeting held Monday, March 25, E911 officials updated commissioners on issues still ongoing with VoiceOver IP telephone systems.

Officials said the bottom line is there are companies using the VoiceOver IP systems that do not work properly when attempting to place a 911 call.

Marvin McIlwain, E911 coordinator for Coffee County, said there are companies that utilize the system in a proper manner and have their VoiceOver IP system set so that customers can contact 911 in case of an emergency. Unfortunately, there are still others that do not comply and when a customer tries to call 911 all he/she will get is busy signal.

McIlwain said this is unacceptable, but the 911 board is limited in what it can do to force any changes by these companies.

McIlwain strongly suggested that any resident in Coffee County using a VoiceOver IP phone system, instead of having a landline telephone at home, check their system to be sure it is one that works properly. He said during an emergency is the wrong time to discover one cannot reach 911 due to an improperly working system.

McIlwain suggested these residents contact their local dispatch center on an administrative line and request a check for a 911 call. He said dispatchers would be more than happy to assist with this unless they are tied up with an actual emergency at that time. In that case, he said they would ask to delay until the emergency is over.

Also, he suggested customers complain to their company if they realize their system does not work properly.

Commission chairman Dean Smith thanked the E911 office for its continued efforts to work on this issue, and said maybe it

Elba Police dispatcher Jessie Jones, center holding baby, officially met the newborn he delivered during an emergency situation Saturday night, March 16, in Elba. As was previously reported by The Elba Clipper, Jones delivered baby Elsie in front of the Elba Police Department while waiting on a backup ambulance to arrive in Elba from Opp. Baby Elsie and mom, Jena Melissa Wood (standing to the right of Jones) visited the Elba Police Department to visit the dispatch and officer team that assisted them that night, and to also be present as Elba Police Chief Leslie Hussey recognized each of the team members with a certificate of appreciation for a job well done. Jones also was presented the 1st annual "Stork Award" by Chief Hussey. Pictured from left to right are: Officer Robert Seagle, Sgt. Chase Rogers, Jones with baby Elsie, Wood, and dispatchers Denise Boyd and Elizabeth Snell.

"I have found the best way to give advice to your children is to find out what they want and then advise them to do it." — Harry S. Truman Pardon our complaining but a weekend of trying (and failing) to find something on the tube to watch left us upset. For many years a news program was our first, second and third choice of a 'good' TV program. Not anymore. It probably sells advertising because it attracts viewers but they are ALL obsessed one way or the other with Donald Trump . . . day and night! They are all either blasting him for breathing or praising him as their god. Opposing opinions don't offend us until they get obnoxious and both sides of this issue can, and do, get that way every day. One day we would like to see a tally of the number of times the name 'Donald Trump' and/or those associated with him are mentioned just in a 24-hour period.

Each year the people of Alabama get closer and closer to approving participation in the big national lottery games played (legally) weekly in all but a handful of states. 2019 is no different as there are bills before the state lawmakers to legalize lotteries. Many Alabama residents manage to travel to one of our neighboring states often enough to be considered a regular participant in the purchase of lottery tickets. Others will buy a few tickets when traveling on vacation, etc. We have no problem with Alabama lottery ticket buyers keeping their taxes within the state for the schools, roads, prisons, etc. Yet there is a genuine concern that entirely too many citizens, desperate for financial relief, will squander what little money they have on that extremely slim chance of winning the prize and being on easy street forever. The urge is understandable, but the chance of getting that relief is oh so slim that it is not practical. The facts are that if you want to double your money, the guaranteed way to do so is to fold it and put it in your pocket! We have tried it both ways and the 'folding' plan is the only option that has worked every time. It will work for you every time. Granted, buying that ticket and dreaming of hitting the jackpot is exciting, but then the let-down can be sickening if you think you really need that big wad of money to survive and your numbers don't come up. But ah, the 'recreational' aspect of "I just buy a few tickets for the entertainment factor" is hard to discount but so many who say that are actually in the group that can't really afford to lose the little money they have.

April is National Community College Month and the perfect time for us to voice our strong support for the Alabama community college system. There are a number of really good community colleges (junior college rolls off our tongue better) in this state and the benefits are many. So many high school graduates are better served by spending their first college years in this system. The kids will disagree with this but our position is it gives them more time to mature, saves the family money (and leaves the student with lower student loans). The list goes on and on, and includes a more personal relationship with professors due to the smaller student body. The community college route should be strongly considered by every high school graduating senior.

The rain gauges are almost empty, indicating the area is close to drought status. It is hard to believe but the numbers don't lie. The weather folks have already placed parts of Alabama (north of us) in that category.

Should I Buy Flood Insurance?

Flooding from Hurricane Michael resulted in more than 4,000 flood insurance claims being filed by Florida homeowners, business owners and renters who have flood insurance. Some Floridians who experienced losses did not have flood insurance.

Why do I need flood insurance?

Standard homeowner's insurance policies do not cover floods. So, it's wise to consider flood insurance even if you are not required to purchase it.

Even if you live outside a high-risk flood zone, called a Special Flood Hazard Area, it's a wise decision to buy flood insurance. In fact, statistics show that people who live outside high-risk areas file more than 25 percent of flood claims nationwide.

It's often said that wherever it rains, it can flood. So, while flood zones are specific geographic areas where there is a higher statistical probability of a flood occurring, floods do occur elsewhere. For example, Florida, over the last five years, has exceeded that statistical probability, putting more homes and properties at risk than expected.

FEMA calculations show that just three inches of floodwater in a home likely will require replacing drywall, baseboards, carpets, furniture and other necessary repairs. If you don't have flood insurance, your likely out-of-pocket cost (based on a 1500 square foot, one floor home) is estimated at approximately $15,000. For six inches of water, estimated loss jumps to an estimated approximately $23,000.

Obviously, the deeper the floodwater, the more it will likely cost — 18 inches or more of water could mean repairs to the electrical system and the heating and cooling system. It also means replacing doors, appliances and cabinetry. The estimated cost of these repairs? $30,000.

How does flood insurance work?

If your community participates in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), as a homeowner or a business, both building and contents coverage can be included in your policy. Renters can get coverage for contents only. Policies issued by the NFIP pay even if a federal disaster is not declared.

States recently impacted by hurricanes, the NFIP streamlined the claims process, enabling policyholders to receive advance payments to jump-start their rebuilding. Policyholders were able to get advance payments up to $5,000 without an adjuster visit or additional documentation. Some received advance payments of up to $20,000 if they had photos/video evidence and receipts or a contractor's estimate.

A Preferred Risk Policy (a lower-cost flood insurance policy) provides both building and contents coverage for properties in moderate-to-low risk areas.

When should I buy a policy? As soon as possible.

There's a waiting period.

A new insurance policy from NFIP becomes effective 30 days after you buy it, unless the purchase is associated with the origination, renewal or extension of a federally backed loan on property in a high-risk area.

Can I get flood insurance if I'm renting a property?

Yes. If you live in a community that participates in NFIP and you are a renter, you can get flood insurance to cover the contents of your home, apartment or business at a rented location.

How much does a policy cost? Your insurance agent can talk with you about cost of coverage for your property. There are ways to lower your cost and your insurance agent can discuss your options.

NFIP policy holders can choose their amount of coverage.

How much will I get from NFIP after my building or contents are damaged by a flood?

The amount paid to the policyholder on a homeowner's flood insurance policy will cover only the cost of actual damage caused by the flood.

The amount paid on contents will cover only actual losses caused by the flood.

The amount paid to businesses covered for structure and contents will be only for actual losses by the flood.

Where can I buy flood insurance?

You can buy flood insurance by contacting your insurance company or agent.

For an agent referral call 800-427-4661 or visit FloodSmart.gov.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

How does you say Goodbye to a beloved Friend and neighbor? (Eddie Vaughan) My loss is also shared by the City of Elba. Eddie loved the City of Elba and wore many hates while serving the city. The hat he loved most was calling the Elba football games. During the times that he was sick and unable to call the games it made him even sicker.

When he was able to go back to full duty at the ball field I started going with him to see the ball games. One day he asked me why I was not going to the games, I told him I had trouble seeing at night so he took me to the school on the hill and I got my season tickets. Later when he asked me if I had a Tiger shirt, I said no so he said we can fix that. Come game time he had gotten me two shirts. Everything around the football field has a name so I think we should name the broadcast booth the EDDIE VAUGHAN BROADCAST BOOTH.

I would be remiss if I did not tell of his love for his employer, National Security Insurance Company. He thought of the company as his company, not as in ownership but as family.

Eddie and I usually started our day going to the gym. We also went to or drove each other to doctor's appointments. After the doctor's appointments you could find us somewhere food was served. We both loved to eat, and we looked for the best places to eat. One place we enjoyed was The Old Mill House in Dothan. Talking about eating! We both went up a size in shirts and 2 or 3 in pants. I said one day I was running out of shirts to wear. Eddie said he could take care of that so one morning he came out with about 20 short sleeve shirts.

I am already missing Eddie and will keep missing him. Come football season I can hear him saying (ARE THERE ANY ELBA TIGER FANS UP HERE?)

GOODBYE YOUNG FRIEND. You will be missed not only by family and friends, but also the city of Elba.

LBWCC president believes community college is a logical choice written by

Dr. Herb Riedel,
president LBWCC

This time of year, young adults are celebrating the completion of high school requirements and preparing for graduation while facing the realities of their next step in life. Should it be a postsecondary education path or enter the workforce? With April being National Community College Month, now is a good time to reflect on the many ways community colleges can impact lives.

According to the Census Bureau, those holding an associate degree earn about $400,000 more in a lifetime than those with a high school diploma. Associate degrees generally require 60 semester credits of study, which equals to about 20 college courses. LBW Community College, one of 24 community and technical colleges in the Alabama Community College System, offers associate degrees in art, science, and applied science.

Now more than ever, a college credential is important in obtaining a job and increasing earning potential. A Georgetown University report on job growth and education requirements estimates 65 percent of all jobs will require postsecondary education or training beyond high school in 2020.

A key investment in the future is obtaining a college credential. Whether the choice is an academic transfer path or career technical training, community colleges offer the best cost option with tuition often less than half the amount of four-year institutions.

Through a community college, academic transfer programs allow students to complete the first two years of courses toward a major before transferring to complete a bachelor's degree. Academic courses are taught by faculty with the same required credentials as those teaching at four-year institutions. Now, more than 80 percent of LBWCC's academic classes are offered online, so coursework can be completed from anywhere with computer access.

Throughout the community, LBWCC graduates are among the most successful business leaders and professionals in their fields.

As technology advances, industries evolve and requirements for advanced skills increase. In addition to computer-related skills, employers now seek cognitive skills such as communication and analytics from job applicants rather than physical skills traditionally associated with manufacturing. In LBWCC's career technical training programs, faculty have field experience and students benefit from hands-on learning.

High school students can begin dual enrollment, earning both high school and college credits, beginning the fall of their sophomore year. This results in getting a major head start on their academic college credits before transferring to a four-year university, or being trained in one of several career technical programs and gaining the skills needed to enter the workforce earlier. Currently, those choosing technical dual enrollment options may qualify for financial assistance through state-funded grants.

Community colleges also provide free adult education and literacy services to students seeking to improve their academic and life skills. Adult education services include academic assessment, adult basic education, college preparation, English as a second language, GED preparation, Career Pathways, and WorkKeys National Career Readiness Certificate. LBWCC offers adult education in Andalusia, Opp, Florala, Luverne, and Greenville.

For existing business and industry, LBWCC provides customized training for employees through the workforce development division.

Several short-term skills training programs became available for the first time this year through LBWCC. These programs, which are non-credit training courses supported by Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) funds, included industrial welding, medical assistant, veterinary assistant, dental assistant, and pharmacy technician. Planning is underway for repeat or additional programs such as these, which can be completed in two, three, or four months.

LBWCC also offers a

Also during the commission meeting, commissioners approved a motion to authorize an application for an Industrial Access Grant for "Project X". This came as a recommendation from county administrator Rod Morgan.

Commissioner also voted to purchase a 2002 tanker to replace one that recently was involved in an accident. The cost for the used tanker was $38,175.

The next Coffee County Commission meeting is set for Monday, April 8, at 9 a.m. in New Brockton.

approved a motion to pay the monthly bills, based on the estimated totals.

Also during the meeting, council members briefly discussed an appointment to the Board of Equalization to represent the Town of New Brockton. Having plenty of time before this appointment would take effect, council members voted to table the issue for now to allow more time for thought and discussion on that appointment.

The next regular meeting for the New Brockton Town Council will be Monday, May 6, at 6 p.m.

CHURCH NEWS

PASTOR'S CORNER

STEVE RENEAU, PASTOR

ELBA UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

I invite you to read Psalm 122 and let this text be a devotional for you.

This past Sunday we found ourselves situated in the middle of the season of Lent, a forty day season of preparation for Easter. Lent is an odd and dark season. Christians for thousands of years fast from certain rich and sweet foods or abstain from eating meat or anything at all on certain days. Many churches do not allow flowers to be placed in the church or even for weddings to occur during this time. Additionally, the word, "Alleluia" is not sung or spoken, because of the solemnity of the season. If Easter is the mountain top and joyous part of the yearly journey, then Lent is the valley of the shadow of death you have to pass through to get there.

Yet, this past Sunday, in the midst of the valley was a time of reprieve. Many of the strictures of Lent were eased. Weddings may be held, flowers may adorn the church, and even the colors of the church can change from the somber violet to a brighter rose. This Sunday is called Laetare Sunday coming from the Latin word for "rejoice", and is quite special to me.

I was depressed for months after my wife and I lost our first child. I was trudging through my own personal valley of the shadow of death. It seemed that all joy had been sucked out of life. Yet, now that I am on the other side of that journey, I can look back to that time in my life and see moments when God sent people and moments that made my life a little lighter. I was not on top of the mountain yet, but I could feel the ascent beginning in the depths of the valley.

I do not know where you are in your journey today. You may be on top of the mountain shouting, "Alleluia!" To you I say rejoice and be glad remembering the path that brought you there. You may be in a deep, dark valley, and to you I say do not fear. Remember the words of Psalm 23 that though you walk through the valley of the shadow of death that God is with you. Look to those small moments when you can feel the ground change and know that though the darkness may last for the night you are not alone, and joy will come in the morning.

ADPH says be aware of risks

"Watch Your Mouth!" This slogan reminds the public about the need for everyone to learn the signs of oral and oropharyngeal cancer and check their mouths each month.

This is important because Alabama ranks fifth in the U.S. for oral cavity and pharynx cancer incidence and is seventh among the states for deaths from these cancers, according to the National Institutes of Health and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. To draw attention to the need for regular oral cancer examinations performed by oral health professionals and other prevention efforts, Alabama Governor Kay Ivey has proclaimed April 2019 as Oral Cancer Awareness Month.

"Talk to a dental health-care professional about what you can do to prevent oral cancer at your next visit," State Dental Director Dr. Tommy Johnson, Alabama Department of Public Health, said.

The following actions are recommended for prevention and early detection:

- Vaccinate yourself or your children against HPV.
- Stop tobacco use and use alcohol in moderation.
- Regularly check your mouth for unusual sores, swelling, and areas of red or white lesions.
- Ask your dental provider to screen for oral cancers.

See your doctor if you have any of these symptoms of oral cancers:

- Persistent hoarseness or sore throat
- Earaches or enlarged lymph nodes of the neck
- Difficulty swallowing
- Unexplained weight loss

are those cancers confined to the base of the tongue, soft palate, tonsils and back of the throat. The American Cancer Society estimates that 51,540 people will get oral cavity or oropharyngeal cancer this year and 10,030 people will die of these cancers.

Human papillomavirus (HPV) causes around 70 percent of oropharyngeal cancers. The human papillomavirus (HPV) vaccine can reduce oral HPV infection by 90 percent. HPV can infect the mouth and throat, can cause oropharyngeal cancer, and is thought to cause 70 percent of such cancers in the U.S. Yet Alabama residents rank 43rd in the U.S. in HPV vaccination uptake.

State Health Officer Dr. Scott Harris said, "When detected and treated early, treatment-related health problems are reduced and survival rates may increase."

Football legend and cancer survivor Pat Sullivan, a Heisman Trophy-winning quarterback at Auburn University, was among the dignitaries present for the proclamation signing. Sullivan overcame throat cancer after being diagnosed 15 years ago.

Others attending the proclamation ceremony included representatives of the Alabama Comprehensive Cancer Control Coalition, the Alabama Department of Public Health, the State Committee of Public Health, the UAB School of Dentistry, UAB Otolaryngology and UAB Health Mitchell Cancer Institute.

Our grandson Lawson spent a day at the beach over spring break and then over the weekend when golfing with his Mom and me at a putt-putt course in Enterprise and was the only golfer to record a hole in one. The ace made the trip worthwhile and was the highlight of the week for my little man.

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Tigers face a busy week on the diamond in the days to come as they face Kinston in a three-game series and then tangle with Florala on the road in a 'must win' doubleheader as they fight for a spot in the playoffs. The Tigers must win the series with the Bulldogs and sweep the Wildcats to advance, and while they can definitely get the job done, they will have to play their best in every game.

 The Elba Lady Tigers will also have a busy week as they have two regular season games on the schedule and will compete in a weekend tournament in Arton. The Lady Tigers have had a hard time playing games this season due to rainy weather and a pair of recent cancellations, but are now in the meat of their season and it is time for the girls to step up and begin to peek as the post-season draws near.

 The Brantley Bulldogs competed in a baseball tournament in Opp over the spring break and outsourced three victims 36-1 to claim the tournament title. The Bulldogs were talking about a state title way back before the season even began, and have done nothing but back up their claims as the season has progressed. These Bulldogs may very well add yet another state championship trophy to the already crowded trophy case at Brantley High before long. Taking a look around the baseball diamond, New Brockton dropped a series to Luverne and now must get past Arton to reach the playoffs in what was expected to be banner season, while Zion Chapel picked up a key win over Goshen and is still in the playoff hunt, and Kinston was simply outmanned at the Opp tournament, but did gain experience. Over on the softball field, all the area teams enjoyed the week off, while Brantley did win two games at a tournament prior to the break and Zion Chapel found tough going against much bigger foes.

 Alabama found its new head basketball coach and despite the fact the new coach was somewhat of an unknown, especially for Crimson Tide fans, he didn't come cheap as Alabama had to pay Avery Johnson $5.5 million to hit the road, $750,000 to get the new coach out of his contract at Buffalo, and then ante up around $2.5 million a year to sign the new head man. That means that in the upcoming season the Tide will have invested almost $9 million for its new basketball coach. Wow!

 In closing.... I watched the Atlanta Braves in their opening two games of the season and even though I am a Braves fan I have to admit it looked like the same old Braves with a couple of new arms thrown in to get in some work on the mound. Atlanta signed a couple of 'has been' stars to supposedly bolster their attack, but fell behind in the standings immediately and is already playing catch up. Oh well, at least it gives me something to watch on the tube.

Alabama High School Sports Hall of Fame inducts eleven in Class of 2019

Eleven major contributors to prep athletics in Alabama were inducted into the 29th class of the Alabama High School Sports Hall of Fame recently.

The 2019 class, which included an "old-timer," were enshrined at a banquet held at the Montgomery Renaissance Hotel and Spa Convention Center.

Inducted were: football coaches Phil Lazenby, David Lowery, Willie Carl Martin, Billy Odom and Ronnie Sikes; basketball coaches Carolyn Wright and Scheussler Ware; track coach Claborn Campbell; baseball coach Mark Mincher; basketball official Johnny Robertson; and longtime coach and administrator Reynolds "R.C." Cook, chosen in the old-timers' division. Mr. Cook is deceased. His son Stan Cook represented his father at the ceremonies.

Coach Wright gave a resounding acceptance speech for what she described as a very humble and fortunate group.

"We are a group of 11 individuals with devout faith who all shared the same goals, but we did it in many different ways," she said. "This class of inductees have been mentors for coaches and teachers throughout the state of Alabama."

"How did we get here? We have been truly blessed. We all have the same goals and we all had the same passions. Yet, we all expressed it in different ways. We all have the same testimony ...

Support conservation with boat registration

Boat owners can now help support conservation efforts in Alabama when renewing their boat registration. First made available in 2018, the purchase of a distinctive registration identification sticker for their vessels provides boaters the opportunity to help financially support certain college and university programs as well as state parks, the Forever Wild program and freshwater fisheries conservation in Alabama.

The distinctive identification sticker, which is displayed on the bow of the vessel, is similar to the personalized license plate program for motorcycles, cars and trucks. The stickers are 4 1/2 inches by 28 1/4 inches, display the vessel's registration number, and can be issued with a variety of Alabama university and college logos or feature one of three Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources (ADCNR) designs including Alabama State Parks, Freshwater Fishing, and the Forever Wild Land Trust. However, unlike the car tag program, the sticker cannot be personalized.

The cost of the distinctive identification sticker for boats is $50 in addition to the regular vessel registration and county issuance fee. For each sticker sold, $20 is allocated to ADCNR for the operation of Alabama's state parks. When purchasing one of the three ADCNR-themed stickers, that amount increases to $40 with the additional $20 being allocated to State Parks, Forever Wild or the ADCNR Fisheries Section, depending on which sticker is purchased.

The distinctive identification sticker fee applies each year one is purchased. Available from probate offices throughout the state (either in person or online), the sticker is valid for one year from the date of purchase. Once purchased, the distinctive identification sticker is printed and mailed to the vessel owner usually arriving within one to two weeks. A new sticker will be issued for each year the registration is renewed.

For more information about the availability of the distinctive vessel identification stickers, contact your local probate office.

In addition to renewing their boat registration, boaters are reminded to always practice safety on the water including wearing a lifejacket. For more safe boating tips, visit www.safeboatingcampaign.com.

The distinctive vessel identification sticker program is administered by the Alabama Law Enforcement Agency (ALEA).
